Brad Dresler, E.I.T.

Brad.Dresler@gmail.com   (303) 503-3874

Design, implementation, and support professional with a diverse array of skills and experience.

Skills and Experience:

Personal	Technology	Development
Team Leadership	Excel, Addins, and VB	Django, Angular.js, Node.js
Customer Management	Domain Administration	MongoDB, SQL, MySQL
Effective Problem Resolution	Servers and Virtualization	Python Data Science
Productivity Optimization	Office365	HTML, CSS, .NET, C++

Education: B.S.E Chemical Engineering. Arizona State University, May 2012

A.S. Associate of Science, Scottsdale Community College, May 2009

2012- Present | Remote Services Engineer | Phoenix AZ

Support

➢ Focal contact for a suite of engineering software products. Responsible for the care and service of contracts valued at over $1M.
➢ Maintained several backend servers in a distributed architecture necessary for contracted service delivery.
➢ Additional point of contact for peripheral software and components outside of primary scope of work.

Design

➢ Integral part of restructuring of multiple services in an effective, standardized, and well documented schema.
➢ Lead in the redesign of the report layout for Honeywell Aftermarket Services.
➢ Wrote applications to streamline processes with increased accuracy and productivity.

Implementation

➢ Replaced a physical machine environment with complete virtualization
➢ Deployed modern updated platforms and content to dozens of customers.
➢ Modified and replaced legacy scripts and technologies in production.

Other Relevant Experience

Web Development – Developed websites using both Django python web framework and full stack JavaScript utilizing Angular.js and Node.js.
Team Management – Active member in adult team sports and longstanding team captain.